

Donna Levin is the Co-Founder and VP of Government Relations at Care.com. She has a 15-year career as a social entrepreneur, most recently serving as VP of Operations at Upromise.com, an online service that helps families save for college. At Care.com, Donna has served on the management team as VP, Operations, establishing the company's safety and customer service infrastructure as well as launching the company's care management offering. In September of 2011, Donna transitioned to spearhead new programs for families who face some of the most challenging care situations — our nation's military population and families with special needs children and seniors. With a strong belief that both government and corporate entities have a fundamental responsibility to help improve their communities, Donna and her team are currently developing innovative technologies and resources to unite all sectors in their mission.

Founded in 2006, Care.com is the largest and fastest growing service used by families seeking high-quality care providers, providing a place to easily connect with hundreds of thousands of care providers, share care giving experiences and get advice. Care.com addresses the unique lifecycle of care needs that each family goes through - child care, senior care; special needs care, tutoring and lessons, pet care, housekeeping and more.

Care.com has been featured in national news outlets including NBC's Today, Good Morning America, The Wall Street Journal, The New York Times, USA Today, Parenting and Fortune. Most recently, Donna was featured as an emerging leader in the Boston Business Journal.

In addition to recently joining the advisory board of WEST, Donna serves on the advisory board of the Boston Chamber Women's Network. Donna holds a B.A. from Emerson College and lives in Newton, Massachusetts with her husband and two children.
